DOOMED FORCE DEFIES NIPPON WITHIN CHAPEI

Sticks to Guns After Rest of Defending Army Retreats from Shanghai.

HUDDLE IN WAREHOUSES

U. S. and British Marines Offer To Aid Withdrawal But Help Rejected.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Oct. 28 — The single defiant flag of a doomed—but yet fighting—Chinese battalion still fluttered over Chapei tonight in the midst of scores of Japan's Rising Sun banners.

While the main battleground had shifted to Shanghai's western environs with the Chinese retreat from Chapei yesterday, the lone Chinese force held out tonight in warehouses along Soochow creek, adjoining the international settlement's northern border.

The United States marines and British troops offered to aid withdrawal of the battalion to end the menace of stray bullets falling into the settlement, but the offer was refused.

Extinction Nears

That the final hour of the doomed battalion was at hand seemed certain when a Japanese navy spokesman declared Nippon's bluejackets would mop up all scattered Chinese units in Chapei.

Japanese naval headquarters advised United States marines to take precautionary measures against possible severe action to wipe out the Chinese battalion, opposite one section of marine defense lines.

Designating the Chinese detachment as stragglers, the navy spokesman predicted they soon would be killed.

Crowds of hero-worshipping Chinese declared they were not stragglers, but the remains of a battalion of Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek's 88th army which had held the north station citadel 75 days against Japanese attacks.

All Young Men

Proud Chinese officials said the besieged warriors all were under 30 years of age and come from every province in China.

"They are fully representative of heroic China's new fighting spirit," said one.

Somehow, the unit obtained supplies of rice, hardtack and tea and sent back word that it would stick to the last man.

Despite a shower of machine gun bullets which spattered the settlement pavements, crowds of Chinese and foreigners gathered on the rooftops of nearby buildings to see the battle to the end in the heart of a modern city.

As a precaution against casualties, police roped off three blocks inside the settlement, within a block of busy Nanking road. Three Chinese were struck by stray bullets.

"RETURN GERMAN COLONIES" -- IL DUCE

Mussolini Voices Support for Return of War-Lost African Possessions.

By The Associated Press

ROME, Oct. 28—Premier Mussolini, celebrating the 15th anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome, declared today it is "necessary" that Germany be restored to her "place in the African sun."

Il Duce thus voiced support for Germany's desire for return of her war-lost colonies. He spoke at Mussolini's forum in the presence of 100,000 Fascists from all parts of Italy.

A German delegation, sent to Rome by Reichschancellor Hitler for the celebration, heard the premier, along with other foreign diplomats.

Mussolini turned to what both Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy term the threat of 'bolshevism' in Europe.

"For durable and fruitful peace it is necessary that bolshevism be eliminated in Europe," he told the massed blackshirts and others.

"It is necessary that some clauses of the (World war) peace treaties be revised," he went on. "It is necessary that a great people, the German people, have their place in the place to which it is entitled and which it once possessed in the African sun."

NOBLE GOODMAN of Wyandot County HAROLD OATNEY of Fairfield County

MILES LONGSHORE HURT IN ACCIDENT

C. E. Merkel Escapes Injury When Two Are Knocked Down by Auto.

Miles Longshore of 308 South State street and Charles E. Merkel of 325 Mt. Vernon avenue escaped with minor injuries when a hit-skip driver who crashed a red light about 10:30 last night at the intersection of State and Church street, struck Mr. Longshore as the two men were walking together across Church street.

Returning from a Democratic meeting at Schwinger's hall, they were crossing Church street on the west side of State street.

Mr. Merkel said they had taken about two steps off the curb when he looked up and saw a car coming from the west, traveling on the wrong side of the street. He grabbed Mr. Longshore, who was nearest the car, but before they could get out of the way the car had struck Mr. Longshore and the driver turned north on State street and sped away.

Mr. Longshore was forced against Mr. Merkel and both fell in the street. Mr. Merkel got to his feet and called to a filling station attendant to get the license number of the car, but the driver had hurried away, after looking back and seeing the two men in the street, Mr. Merkel said.

The license plate was dirty and the accident had occurred so quickly that Mr. Merkel and the filling station attendant who saw it, said they would not be able to identify the car.

The C. E. Curtis Co. ambulance was called and removed Mr. Longshore to his home. Mr. Longshore was able to get to his feet, assisted by several men who had gathered at the scene. Mr. Merkel was unhurt, except that he was knocked breathless by the fall.

Examination of Mr. Longshore showed that he suffered a badly bruised right knee and face and head bruises, the attending physician reported. He will be confined to his bed for several days until the soreness of the bruises has eased.

Mr. Longshore is Democratic committeeman from the Fifth ward, precinct B.

Noble Goodman, 23, Sets New Ohio Record in Winning Stalk Event; Marion Co. Contestant Finishes in Fourth Place.

By BOB BYRD
Marion Star Staff Writer.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 28.—When 23-year-old Noble Goodman, who works on a duck farm three miles west of Upper Sandusky, won the standing corn division of the eighth annual corn husking contest yesterday afternoon, he set a new state record of 2,346.6 pounds—33 bushels and 36 pounds.

The fact that a new record had been set was disclosed while Ray T. Kelsey, managing editor of the Ohio Farmer, sponsor of the contests, announced the list of winners to the crowd of 25,000 persons that jammed the Walton Brothers farm on the north edge of this community.

Newspaper photographers and reporters swarmed around Goodman to hear what he had to say about it.

"I don't know how I did it," he smiled with a trace of confusion about all the attention he was receiving. His answers to questions brought out that he used a home-fashioned husking hook, remodeled from a commercial hook he had bought. "It's an old one—I've been trying to buy a new one like it but I haven't been able to find any," he said.

Started Husking at 8.

Goodman, unmarried, works on the L. L. Hudson farm. He said he has been husking corn since he was eight years old. His home formerly was at Smithville, O., where his mother, Mrs. Christina Goodman, lives. Last year he made a try at county competition and finished in third place. This year he won the county contest to get the right to enter the state contest.

An analysis of the records shows that Goodman won his event by the sheer ability to handle more ears than his rivals. His deductions for overlooking ears and for leaving ribbons of husks on ears he threw into the wagon were fairly heavy, but the 303.4 pounds penalty for these offenses didn't offset the margin he held over his competitors. He actually husked 2,650 pounds of corn but got credit, due to the deductions, for only 2,346.6 pounds.

Until Goodman performed yesterday, the state husking record had been 32.69 bushels, set by Raymond Kennedy in the 1936 contest in Pauling county.

Both Go to Missouri

Goodman and T. J. Forbes of Wood county, who finished second with 2,296.4 pounds, or 50.2 pounds less than Goodman, will go to the national contest in Missouri on Nov. 4 as Ohio's representatives in the competition. There will be no national shock husking contest.

Earl E. Speece, 35-year-old Marion county champion who husked more corn in the county contest than any other county winner this year and consequently was an early favorite in the state competition, finished in fourth place with 2,261.8 pounds, only 74.8 pounds behind Goodman. Speece was given a round of applause by the crowd when called to the platform to receive his fourth-place award. Asked to speak into the microphone of the amplifying system that carried the announcements to all corners of the grounds, he said, "Some of them were too good for me."

Third Place Winner

The third place winner was William Anderson of Ross county,

SATURDAY DEADLINE IN TAX COLLECTION

County Treasurer Homer D. Cole today again warned taxpayers of the deadline Saturday for the current personal property tax collection. This morning the total was $54,367.11, nearly $2,000 more than the last half-year collection in 1936. The payments have slowed down considerably in the last few days, Mr. Cole said.

A full 10 per cent penalty will be assessed against all unpaid accounts after Saturday, he said.

FARMER HURT IN CAR MISHAP NEAR MORRAL

TEACHER DRVING AUTO

Farmer Struck as He Crosses Road to House from Mail Box.

Emery Jacobs, 64, of a mile east of Morral is in a critical condition today at the Frederick C. Smith clinic as a result of injuries suffered this morning when he was struck by an auto while crossing the road in front of his home. He is suffering from internal injuries, a fractured left leg, fractured left arm and fractured collar bone, attendants reported.

Teacher Driving Car

Sheriff Fred F. Miller and Deputy W. H. Willis who were called on the accident had been unable to question Mr. Jacobs at noon today. They said Miss Dorothy Shuster, 27, teacher at Grand Prairie township school, was driving the car.

Miss Shuster, a resident of Morral, told Deputy Willis she was driving to school on the Morral-Brush Ridge road, going east, at about 8 o'clock when the accident occurred. Sheriff Miller quoted her as saying Mr. Jacobs was at the mail box across the road from his home as her car neared. She said he looked up and that she believed he saw the car. She swerved away from him as he stepped into the road.

Thrown To Road

Deputy Willis said marks on the car, which was not damaged, indicated Mr. Jacobs had been struck by the side of the right front fender. He was hurled to the roadway. The J. T. Luvas ambulance from Morral was called and removed Mr. Jacobs to the clinic where emergency treatment was given.

Mr. Jacobs is a farmer and has been a resident of near Morral for a number of years.

BLOND FORGED NAME EXPERT TELLS COURT

Osborn Who Acted in Hauptmann Case Testifies at Hahn Trial.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 28—A handwriting expert's testimony that Anna Marie Hahn forged the name of Jacob Wagner on three documents, including his purported will, was added today to the state's evidence in her murder trial.

The blond 31-year-old mother, accused by the prosecution of "mass murders" for profit, is being tried for the poison death of Wagner, 78, a retired gardener.

Albert D. Osborn of New York, engaged by the state to identify documents in the case, testified at a night session that Mrs. Hahn was the author of a scrawled handwriting which, the state asserted, she represented as Wagner's "last will and testament," leaving to her all his modest fortune.

Osborn also declared the signature on an order giving Mrs. Hahn power of attorney for Wagner was a "poor imitation" and that a check bearing Wagner's name in reality was made out by Mrs. Hahn. The defense has admitted that the defendant forged a check for $1,000 several hours after Wagner died June 3.

Continuing his testimony today, Osborn identified as Mrs. Hahn's writing the original of a telegram sent from Colorado Springs Colo., in July, requesting a $1,000 draft from the account of George Obendoerfer, whom the state also contends she fatally poisoned.

Hiram C. Bolsinger of defense counsel cross-examined Osborn. The handwriting expert refused to pass on the authenticity of writing on a slip of paper proffered him by the attorney.

"You've testified in a good many cases," said Bolsinger, "and you've been wrong sometimes, haven't you?"

"No," replied Osborn.

CROP CONTROL BILL HIT IN FARM UNION ACTION

Vigorous Resolution Adopted in Final Session of State Convention Here; Officers Elected.

Passing of resolutions condemning the crop control bill proposed by President Roosevelt and the election of officers for the new year comprised the main business of delegates to the annual convention of the Ohio division of the Farmers' Union at the closing session in the Star auditorium yesterday.

Debate on resolutions and tardiness of committees in reporting delayed the end until after 5 p. m., although the convention was originally scheduled to close at noon.

Maurice Bair of Greenberg in Sandusky county, vice president for the last three years, was elected president, replacing C. E. Hagins of near Urbana, president since organization of the Ohio division, which he founded. Mr. Bair and other officers were also elected immediately.

EASED MARKET RULES SEND STOCKS SOARING FROM 1 TO 6 POINTS

But Realizing Slashes Gains and Even Cancels Some Entirely During Heavy Turnover.

TAPE MINUTES LATE

Short Covering Accounts for Sharp Upswing in Addition to Quick-Turn Trading Demand.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 — Stocks skyrocketed in today's market following overnight news buying margins had been reduced and those on short selling boosted.

Several leaders were late in opening as floor members attempted to coordinate bids and offers. Gains near the second hour ran to six or more points with the ticker tape several minutes behind from the start.

By 1 p. m., however, extreme advances had been cut in half and in some instances entirely cancelled amid profit taking.

U. S. Steel on an initial transfer of 15,000 shares was up 4¼ points. It required about 20 minutes to make this deal. Chrysler on a block of 10,000 was ahead 5¼.

Short covering, in addition to quick-turn trading demand, accounted partly for the sharp upsurge, brokers said.

Bonds were higher and most commodities leaned forward. Foreign securities markets exhibited strength.

Last week's freight car loadings, on the basis of figures thus far coming to hand, were estimated to have suffered an unseasonal dip to around 780,000, apparently reflecting a further reduction in industrial output. Some western grain carriers, at the same time, made comparatively good showings.

An appreciable export balance for this country in 1937 was seen as more than probable in view of the commerce department's statement disclosing foreign shipments for September exceeded general imports by more than $63,000,000.

Bank clearings for the week ended yesterday were up 1.1 per cent over the same 1936 period. Last week the gain over the year before amounted to 6.4 per cent.

Board Makes Buying Easier

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—The federal reserve board, apparently seeking to stem the tide of stock market selling, has issued regulations which in effect will make it easier to buy securities than to sell them.

The new rules, effective Monday, will cut from 55 to 40 per cent the amount of cash which traders must put up for the purchase of stocks and will require a 50 per cent margin on short sales.

This readjustment of credit controls over the market is expected by Washington officials to encourage buying and erect a barrier against short selling.

Short selling is selling in anticipation of a drop in securities values.

If a stock is selling for $50, for instance, a trader may sell some shares at that price in the expectation the price will drop before the contracted date of delivery. In brokerage practice, he need not have the stock in his possession at the time of the sale.

If the stock fell to $40 before he had to deliver it, he could buy at that price and make a $10 a share profit.

If, on the other hand, the stock went up to $60, he would lose $10 a share.

In practice, the buyer of a $100 share of stock will have to put up only $50 in cash. If he wants to sell the same security short, he will have to hand over $50 in cash.

The new requirement on short selling is the first ever imposed by the board. The only rule heretofore has been one of the stock exchange requiring a 10-point margin.

The board regulation was drafted in cooperation with the securities commission after reserve system legal experts reported it would not transcend the authority granted under the federal reserve law.

100 Ohio Garden Club Members On Visit Here

Make Last Tour of Fall; Hear Speaker at Session in Palace Theater.

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

The Marion Garden club welcomed more than 100 members of clubs in the Garden Club of Ohio here today in a one-day meeting which will bring to a close a series of monthly summer garden tours. A guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. John W. Paris of New York City, founder past president and honorary president of the Federated Garden Club of New York State, a Fellow of the Royal Horticulture Society of England, a life member of the National Council of State Garden Club Federations, a member of the advisory board of the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild of America and an honorary member of the School Garden Association of America.

Registering this morning at Hotel Harding where the hostesses and visitors also assembled for luncheon, were garden club representative from Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Norwalk, Granville, Newark, Ashland, Mansfield, Bellevue, Washington, C. H., Tiffin and other cities.

Speaks at Theater

Mrs. Paris spoke at the Palace theater. The visitors were welcomed by Miss Maude Gorham president of the hostess club Mrs. Guy C. Myers of Ashland, president of the state club. Preceding the talk by Mrs. Paris there was a short musical program presented by the Musical Art trio composed of Miss Norma Putnam, violinist, Miss Alice Corutti ers, cellist, both of Columbus, and Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, pianist, of Marion.

Mrs. Paris, who was presented by Mrs. Myers, state president, prefaced her talk which she illustrated with colored slides by saying this was her first visit to central Ohio. "I'm simply enchanted with the country, the trees and your lovely autumn foliage," she said.

She provided a setting for the pictures which were to follow by explaining that Long Island and New York State was the cradle of the nursery industry in this country, and the work was begun as early as 1730. Many years ago, she explained, noted scientists were sent out to investigate the best places for growing of vegetation. The result of their travels disclosed that the southernmost part of Japan afforded the most perfect conditions and Long Island, N. Y., was second.

Developed Grapes

Early settlers of New York state were pioneers in the development of grapes and many of the better known fruit trees and shrubbery came from this state. During the Revolutionary period, Mrs. Paris said, many of the English soldiers sent or carried home with them species of vegetation and as a result many of our native trees and shrubs are growing in England. North America, Mrs. Paris said, has more than 400 native species of trees, to say nothing of the many species of shrubs. The Chinese magnolia tree was first brought into the United States by way of Europe and how the Cedar of

Dr. Marshall, hospital interne who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Marshall of Marion, subdued Compton and held him until police came. Compton is facing a charge of shooting with intent to kill. WALDO GIRL WINS HONOR

Top Laurels Go to Angus Steer of 16-Year-Old Magdalene Strine.

ENTRY IS GRAND CHAMPION

Other Exhibitors from Marion and Nearby Counties Share in Awards.

A 16-year-old Marion county girl, Magdalene Strine of three miles northeast of Waldo, won statewide honors yesterday when her 1,000-pound Angus steer, "Chub," was named grand champion steer of the Producers' Calf club show at Columbus. A number of other exhibitors from Marion and nearby counties shared in awards.

Miss Strine, a junior at Waldo high school, won $16 in prize money for entering the champion Angus steer and also received two trophies, one given by a Columbus newspaper and the other by a fertilizer company. She topped off the day's winnings by taking her steer back into the ring and capturing eighth position in the showmanship contest.

Miss Strine's animal is a 13-month-old steer bred on the Strine farm. She took him to the Ohio State fair this year and won first in the open class for Angus steers. She has cared for the steer since it was a calf.

All steers exhibited were sold and Miss Strine's animal topped the list on prices, bringing 16 cents a pound from the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. "Chub" weighed 990 pounds, making the sale price $172.20.

Will Study Music

Miss Strine told reporters at the show she liked cattle but will not devote her life's work to raising them. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strine, are planning a musical education for her and she plans to go either to Capital university or Ohio State after completing high school.

She was one of four girls entered in the show in competition with 100 boys. Another girl, Patricia Phillips, 14, daughter of the superintendent of Ohio State university farms, won the champion Shorthorn award.

Arthur Bricker of near Waldo won the award for champion Hereford steer and Paul Herd, an Ohio State university freshman whose home is at East Liberty in Union county, had the junior champion Angus and the reserve champion of the show.

Entries in the show were divided among Shorthorns, Angus and Herefords, there being two classes in each of these breeds.

In the Shorthorn competition, the placings won by entrants from Marion and nearby counties follow: Kenneth Davids of Prospect, third and sixth; Delmar Risch of Big Island township, a student at Central Junior High school, fifth; Kenneth Lloyd of Morrow county, ninth; Robert Kasper of Union

Madge Fears Effect Royal Visitors May Have on Her Father's Privacy.

MRS. TICER scurried off to the kitchen after her assurance that dinner would be on the table in 20 minutes, and Dicky, flashing a meaningful glance at me, took his mother possessively by the arm.

"That will give Madge time to powder her nose," he said with a teasing glance at me. "Come along into the library, old Darling, and I'll spill you some choice bits about the children."

"When are they coming home?" his mother demanded belligerently. "That's the news I want to hear." But Dicky was already walking her toward the library, and his reply was lost in the sound of the closing door.

"Richard is always thoughtful," my father said as the door closed. "He can read your face even better than I can. Am I right in thinking you want to ask or tell me something by myself?"

"Oh, so badly," I said. "I'll just run up and get the dust off. Then may I come to your den?"

"Suppose I said no!" he replied teasingly.

"Then I should come anyway," I told him audaciously as I turned to the stairs. But I felt anything but audacity when I knocked at the door of his sitting room a few minutes later. For with my homecoming there had come the realization of what the advent of the royal visitors might mean to my father. They might upset his privacy.

He gave a searching glance at me as he threw open the door in answer to my knock. Then he drew out a chair, put me into it, and stepped out of the room for a second, returning with a glass of water and a tinier glass of pungent restorative.

"Down with this before you talk," he said authoritatively, and when I had swallowed the rather unpleasant draught with a little moue at him, he stood smiling down watchfully at me before drawing a chair opposite me.

"Now you may start your confession," he said, "and please remember I never have been a stern father. There is nothing you need fear to tell me."

"How did you know I was afraid?" I asked. "I only remembered to be just now."

He smiled tenderly at me.

"I haven't interpreted all your moods in vain during these blessed years since you were restored to me," he said, and something in pity for him back into my throat. his voice brought the old choke of How bitterly he had paid in years of loneliness and suffering for that treachery to my mother when he ran away with her best friend, leaving me, a child of four, as her only solace.

How bitterly my mother had paid in agony, and how implacable she had been in her determination to hide herself and me where her faithless husband could never find us! She had succeeded so well that when, on her deathbed, she had asked me to forgive him if I ever ran across him, she herself had no idea of his whereabouts.

"You always have been the best and most indulgent of fathers," I told him. "That is the reason I am afraid I have abused that indulgence in what I have just done."

He smiled whimsically across at me.

"I really don't believe you're figuring in a poison plot with me as the victim," he said. "And I can't imagine anything else which would warrant such remorse as you appear to be suffering."

"But I'm afraid I have plotted unwittingly to poison your peace of mind and destroy your privacy," I said a bit melodramatically. "But indeed, I didn't intend to annoy you. I was thinking only of Mary, and how best to foil Philip Veritzen's plot against her."

His face lighted up with amusement, mingled with another emotion less pleasant which I knew instinctively was directed toward Philip Veritzen.

"So you offered the royal exiles sanctuary at the farm?" he inquired coolly.

EMOCRATS HEAR TALK BY PICKREL

...ated at Over 400 ... Party Rally; Candidates Introduced.

... William G. Pickrel, ... and former lieu... of Ohio, in which ... Democratic organi... a Democratic rally ... hall last night. It ... ed between 400 and 500 persons from throughout Marion county attended the penny supper and the meeting which followed.

Another feature of the program consisted of talks by all municipal Democratic candidates, who were introduced by Clerk of Courts Carl F. Haberman. Russell M. Wilhelm, program chairman, was unable to be present. A talk on the city campaign was also given by Dr. C. J. Altmaier, county party chairman, who in turn introduced Mr. Pickrel. The meeting was in charge of Herbert R. Krebs, president of the Marion County Democratic club, with the women's division supervising the supper.

Mr. Pickrel's talk was confined largely to the aims and organization of the party.

The rally was the first and last planned by the party in the present campaign which ends next Tuesday, election day, party leaders said.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CALEDONIA REBEKAH CIRCLE ASSEMBLES

Favorite Type of Program Given During Roll Call.

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, Oct. 28—Twenty members responded to roll call with their favorite type of program at the monthly meeting of the Rebekah Friendship circle Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Hattie Garber. Mrs. Etna Rinker and Mrs. Dawn Jelliffe were associate hostesses. Mrs. Mildred Ulsh and daughter Carolyn of Marion, Miss Ethel Porter and Mary Jo Garber were guests. The meeting was in charge of Miss Wanda Geddis, who read a paper "The Secret of Autumn." Mrs. Myrtle Snyder read a poem. Definite plans were made for a bazaar the middle of December and it was decided to have a work meeting after the lodge meeting Nov. 3.

A good attendance was present at a meeting of Esther Temple Pythian Sister hall. Miss Margaret Lyon was elected delegate to the district convention to be held in Marion Nov. 16. Mrs. O. L. Hipsher won the mystery box.

D. A. Hurr was given a pleasant surprise Monday evening when 15 of his friends and neighbors gathered at his home southeast of town in celebration of his 68th birthday.

Twenty-five neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Quinn Kightlinger found time to play the role of good Samaritans Tuesday by going to the Knightlinger farm southeast of town and husked about 300 bushel of corn. While cranking his automobile Friday it kicked throwing Mr. Kightlinger's hand against the license plate cutting it badly. It required several stitches.

LIPPMANN WRITES ON AFFAIRS OF THE DAY

why the effective opposition to the new deal has come from the Democrats—from progressive liberals like Senator Wheeler and from conservative liberals like Vice President Garner and Senator Glass. These men, without having to deny their own past, can convincingly oppose the collectivism of the new deal. They are standing for what they have always believed in. They have no responsibility for the development of the conditions which engendered the new deal.

Instinctively the thoughtful citizens of the country realize that and have been willing to trust the leadership of these liberal Democrats whereas they shrink from the leadership of the partisan Republicans. For they really do not wish to restore the policies and the consequences of the policies which preceded the new deal. They want the alternative both to the new deal and to orthodox Republicanism.

I do not doubt that Mr. Hoover and his friends would also like to espouse the alternative. They would like to change the traditional principles of their party. But the task of disengaging themselves from the party doctrine and the party commitments and the party record is indeed a formidable one.

BUCYRUS COUPLE MARRIED HERE

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio historica, written for The Associated Press.)

SPEARS AN OHIO MAN

Few people who followed the senate investigation of munitions manufacture and sale, in which Lawrence Spear of the Electric Boat Co. of Massachusetts figured prominently as a witness, knew that Mr. Spear is a son of the late Judge William T. Spear of Trumbull county, Ohio, who sat continuously on the Ohio supreme court bench for more than 30 years as the chief justice.

About the time the family established their residence, Lawrence Y. Spear received an appointment to the U. S. Naval academy and after graduation secured a commission in the construction corps. He was induced by the Electric Boat Co., which was building the new war weapon, the submarine, to resign his commission and become their chief engineer of construction.

Spear is now vice president and his familiarity with the business has made him an interesting witness in the senate inquiry.

Good company and good discourse are the very sinews of virtue.—Izaak Walton.

NYA WAGE CHECKS READY NEXT WEEK

Pupils To Receive Pay for Work Under Government Program.

First monthly checks from the National Youth Administration to [illegible] people employed in the [illegible] and county public and parochial schools will be issued next week, by Carl Lister, NYA.

The checks totalling $330.67 will be sent to the principals of the buildings and given by them to the pupils. Forty-six pupils in the city schools will receive $[illegible] and 23 pupils in the county schools will receive $[illegible].

Pupils participate in the NYA program by assisting at the various buildings, some in the office, others in clerical work, assisting the teachers in grading papers, and helping in any other kind of work done at the school.

In the city schools the distribution will be as follows:

St. Mary Parochial school, four pupils, $24; Vernon Heights Junior High school, one pupil, $6; Harding High school, 20 pupils, $89.17; Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, 21 pupils, $86.

The county distribution will be as follows:

Agosta, one pupil, $6; Caledonia, five pupils, $24; Green Camp, two pupils, $12; La Rue, four pupils, $24; Morral, four pupils, $17.50; Meeker, three pupils, $18; Prospect, one pupil, $6; Waldo, three pupils, $18.

The pupils are paid on an hourly basis, at 25 cents an hour, not to exceed 24 hours a month, or a total of $6 a month.

Making the grade

GROWING children with an abundance of energy usually do make the grade . . . and with ease.

Every thoughtful mother recognizes this fact . . . mothers know too that children need help to build and maintain blood strength.

Particularly is this true with those who have suffered some illness or who look pale . . . tire easily . . . are underweight or have lost their zest for food.

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build up children's health through the red-blood-cells, thus putting them in better condition to enjoy the food they eat and to regain lost weight . . . all which make for strength and vitality.

Help your child to "make the grade" by starting him or her on a course of S.S.S. Tonic now. There is no substitute for this time-tested remedy and no ethical druggist will suggest something "just as good." © S.S.S. Co.

Marion Reserves Beat Bucyrus Team

JUNIOR PRESIDENTS SCORE 32 TO 0 WIN AT HARDING FIELD

Shaw and Reichardt Contribute Touchdowns: First Minute of Play Brings Score.

Harding High's reserve grid team romped to a 32 to 0 victory over the visiting Bucyrus High second stringers in a clash at Harding stadium yesterday afternoon. Scoring in every period, after Right Halfback Shaw chased over the first touchdown in the opening minute of play, the Marion aggregation experienced little difficulty in the second straight win over the Crawford county club. In the season's first game the junior Presidents defeated the same team, 13 to 0, on the Bucyrus field.

Bucyrus kicked off to Marion to start the game and the ball was brought into play on Harding's 20-yard marker. On the first scrimmage play of the game Morgan Shaw slashed through tackle and was away on a touchdown jaunt of 80 yards. A plunge for the extra point was halted on the line of srimmage. The junior Presidents kicked-off and took possession of the ball by holding Bucyrus for downs on the Marion 40-yard line.

Shaw Scores Again

Marking up a pair of first downs on a sustained scrimmage attack the junior Presidents marched to the opponents' 40-yard line as the first quarter ended. By almost duplicating his previous scoring play, Shaw ripped through the opposing line on the first attempt in the second period to score on a 40-yard run. Reichardt kicked the extra point from placement to give Marion a 13 to 0 lead. Near the end of the half Joe Benedict got away for a 20-yard run that gave Marion a first down in scoring territory. A pass, Benedict to Hudson, was good for a 12-yard gain, and Reichardt scored standing up as he went through a hole in the opposing line. The kick from placement was wide of the uprights and Marion led, 19 to 0 at the half.

Reichardt's quick kick from midfield rolled out on the six-yard line and opened a series of plays that set up Harding's third-quarter scoring chance. A Bucyrus punt was partially blocked giving Marion possession of the ball on the 15-yard line. Scrimmage netted a gain of nine yards and a Marion pass was intercepted to give the visitors an opportunity to punt to the 35 and escape immediate danger. A concerted power attack took the oval to the four-yard line and Reichardt plunged for the touchdown, but failed in his kick for the extra point to give Marion a 26 to 0 advantage.

Reichardt Scores

A recovered fumble gave the home team possession of the oval on the Bucyrus 25-yard line and a touchdown pass from Benedict to Coulter was called back when Marion was penalized 15 yards for holding. Benedict's next aerial attempt to Coulter was good for a first down and his lateral on the following play was received by Reichardt who crossed the goal line untouched. With a 32 to 0 lead and three minutes to play, Marion continued its bruising attack on the invaders.

Benedict would have added another touchdown to the total when he broke away for a 65-yard run, but was called back by a 15-yard penalty against Marion. The line-ups follow:

Marion—32		Bucyrus—0
Howard	LE	Clayton
Nye	LT	Willet
McGinnis	LG	Tupps
Robinson	C	Stewart
Brashares	RG	Zehnaty
O'Hara	RT	Keller
Smith	RE	Kerney
Walters	QB	Kaltis
Scott	LH	Wilson
Shaw	RH	Barelz
Childs	FB	Kanode
Marion	6 13 7 6—32

Marion substitutions—Benedict, Coulter, Reichardt, Zeisler, Hudson, Prince, Oliphant, Schwomley, Parr. Officials—Murphy, Hinkin, Caprino.

Touchdowns—Reichardt 2, Shaw 2. Points after touchdowns—Reichardt 2 (Kicks from placement).

Can Indians Stop Tigers?

Headline gridiron clash Saturday brings together those traditional rivals, Yale and Dartmouth, at New Haven. Clint Frank, sensational Tiger back, is expected to heave some telling forwards to End John Miller, while Warren King and R. F. MacLeod will head the offense of the undefeated Indians.

JIM M'DONALD, O.S.U. ACE, ON GRIDIRON'S HONOR LIST OF WEEK

He and Northwestern's Vanzo Mentioned as Big Ten's Best Blocking Backs.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Notwithstanding rain, snow and conditions generally calculated to make football life unhappy for ball-carriers, this week's All-America roundup features the lads who have been going places and scoring touchdowns for the old alma maters.

With a bow to Vanderbilt's 60-minute line, chiefly responsible for overthrowing Louisiana State and featuring an All-America candidate for center in Captain Carl Hinkle, the fact remains that halfbacks monopolized the latest big-game headlines.

Nearing the halfway mark in the pursuit of all-star recognition, the backfield list of favorites includes the following talented young men. Yale's Clint Frank, a 1936 All-America Bill Hutchinson, who tallied all three of Dartmouth's touchdowns against Harvard; Vic Bottari, who twice crossed Southern California's goal line for California, the nation's No. 1 team; Bullet Bill Paterson, dynamo of Baylor's unbeaten and untied powerhouse; Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, who had one of his best days against Wisconsin; Byron (Whizzer) White of Colorado, who tallied 23 points against Colorado State; Jack Pingel of Michigan State, a broken-field terror against Marquette; Jimmy Fenton and Henry Kelly, the twin ground-gaining sensations for Auburn, and Andy Parkas, who has scored 11 touchdowns for Detroit's unbeaten outfit.

Two of the Big Ten's finest blocking backs were on opposite sides of last Saturday's main event, with Ohio State's Jim McDonald apparently enjoying an edge over Northwestern's Fred Vanzo. Don Heap did some spectacular ball-carrying for Northwestern, but could not turn the tide, even with the 213-pound Vanzo's help.

LOYOLA DROPS FIVE FROM GRID SQUAD

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28 — Loyola university dismissed five members of its football team last night for infraction of disciplinary rules.

A faculty board, announcing the dismissals, refused details.

Those asked to leave the university included Bela Andorka of Lorain, O., a regular tackle.

BUSINESS, TOO

Don Heap, the flashy halfback who gave Ohio State players many a "head ache" when the Bucks played Northwestern recently, is not only a great football player but likewise the vice president of a profitable business corporation. During his high school days, Heap was office boy in a cooperative store handling school supplies. Later he invested his savings in it and now is vice president. He plans to devote his full time to it following graduation.

LOSES TOURNEY CHANCE

Eva Shorb, one of the outstanding feminine golfers in the state, recently lost an opportunity to compete in the National Women's tournament at Memphis, Tenn., because of a mix-up. Officials at her home club thought she was to be entered from Wooster college where she is now attending school, and at Wooster it was believed the club would handle her entrance. When the deadline was reached neither had forward the Massillon girl's entry and as a result she stayed home.

Harding Team Intact for Shelby Game Saturday

Harding High's grid club, according to present indications, will be intact for the Saturday invasion of the Shelby field. All of the players returned to the line-up last night, apparently recovered from minor injuries suffered in the game at Ashland a week ago.

Team members have gone through practice workouts each afternoon this week and Coach Carl Cramer planned to put them through their paces again today, with a final session tomorrow. The squad will leave Marion shortly before noon Saturday and will be awaiting the kick-off, which is set for 2:30 o'clock.

Marion fans are expected to make the trek into Richland county to watch their favorites in action against a North Central Ohio conference foe. Shelby's team has been anything but impressive this season and Harding will go on the field as heavy favorite. In the opener Shelby fell before Norwalk, 13 to 0, then lost to Willard, 6 to 0, and Mt. Vernon, 21 to 0, before holding Ashland to a 7-7 deadlock, suffering a 19 to 0, defeat at the hands of Bucyrus and losing, 39 to 18, to the Mansfield Tigers.

GRIDIRON ODDITIES

In 1933, Oregon State originated the "pyramid play." When a team scored on O. S. and lined up for a try-for-point, Oregon State's tackles boosted their six-foot six-inch center into the air to block the kick. The unusual move proved successful twice in that season.—By Alonzo L. (Lon) Stiner, Oregon State.

Sammy Baugh, Ace Passer, Would Rather Carry Ball

By GAYLE TALBOT
By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Scratch the average millionaire, they say, and you find a guy who always yearned to be a fireman and wear red suspenders.

Sammy Baugh, who turned his passing ability into big business, is no different. He always wanted to carry the ball, but they wouldn't let him until now.

Sammy made the shy admission at the coming-out party thrown for him here by Dan Topping, wealthy young president of the Brooklyn Football Dodgers. Baugh's modesty, incidentally, made an obvious impression on his audience, which is accustomed to hearing the personal pronoun bandied about.

"I like runnin' with the ball better than passin' if" the former T C U. terror told them. "I guess it's because you can see 'em hittin' you. You don't get up wonderin' who it was knocked your head off that time."

The man, who is drawing a fancy salary from the Washington Redskins solely because of his ability to sling strikes with a football, acted real embarrassed when they kept asking him about how he learned to pass, but he became expansive the moment somebody observed that he also had proved himself a very handy ball-carrier.

Sammy says he likes the pro game better than the college brand because, as a rule, it's more offensive and the competition consistently tougher. They hit a man much harder, he claims. However, he wouldn't admit the pass-receivers are any better than the young men who caught his aerials at Texas Christian.

"I had some great ones with me down there, else I wouldn't be here now."

MACPHAIL IN WAR STORY

Larry MacPhail, former president of the Columbus Red Birds and later general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, recently was one of the central figures in an article carried by a nationally distributed magazine that revealed a fantastic plot to kidnap the Kaiser during World war days. MacPhail was a captain in the army.

GAME CANCELLED

A grid game between the Harding high reserves and the St. Mary parochial high team scheduled for Friday afternoon, was cancelled yesterday following a conference of athletic officials of the two schools. The contest was called off because of the conflict with the Harding varsity practice. Officials are uncertain whether the game will be rescheduled for this season.

GOLFERS SEEK TO TEST MONTAGUE'S ABILITY AT GOLF

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 28—Horton Smith says the country's topnotch golf pros are eager for a crack at the imposing links reputation of John Montague, "for most any kind of stakes."

Four of the soundest strokers in the money game—Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thomson and Lawson Little—want "Mysterious Monty" to try his shots against the cash-and-carry corps.

Smith speaking for the foursome after an exhibition round at a Nashville course, said today the pros generally resent the fact Montague has been widely hailed as a super-golfer.

SCHOOL RACE TO BE HELD AT DELAWARE

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 28—Officials of the 10th state cross-country meet to be held here Saturday expected entries today from Norwood, Cincinnati, Hughes, Newton, Greenville, Western Hills, Cleveland, Lincoln, Newark, Springfield, Toledo Waite, Columbus North, Cleveland James Ford Rhodes, Akron East, Akron North, and Salem High school. More than 100 runners were expected to compete.

VERSATILE GRIDDER

One of the most sought after high school athletes in the state at the close of the present year will be Bob Glass, the sterling halfback of Merrill's fine team. Glass was an all-Ohio scholastic fullback a year ago and shifted to half this season. In a recent game against Steubenville, Massillon ran the ball from scrimmage 86 times and Glass carried the ball on 46 of those occasions. In addition to bearing the brunt of the ball carrying duties, he does the team's kicking and plays left end on the defense.

WYANDOT CO. MAN CHAMPION HUSKER

who husked 2,268.6 pounds. Both he and the second place winner were outhusked by Speece in the gross weight of corn turned in, but penalties amounting to 242.2 were assessed against Speece for gleanings and husks left on ears. Feehan, second-place winner, husked 2,490 pounds as compared with Speece's 2,503 but his penalties amounted to only 193.6 pounds. Anderson, in third place, husked 2,440 pounds but his penalties amounted to only 171.4 pounds. Thus, in the computation of net weights both men nosed out Speece with the penalties determining the order in which they finished.

Winners of fifth and subsequent positions, in the standing corn contest in the order in which they placed, follow: Ralph Rase of Van Wert county, 2,222.1 pounds; John Feehan of Henry county, 2,133.9; Louis Breedlove of Paulding county, 2,101.2 pounds; George Greenway of Allen county, 2,087.7 pounds, Ulace O'Dell of Butler county, 2,078.6 pounds; Ray Miller of Madison county, 2,063.2 pounds, John Hinkle of Mercer county, 2,056.2 pounds. Harold Thrush of Preble county, 2,038.7 pounds; Dale Brown of Defiance county, 2,019 pounds; Lawrence Matson of Hardin county, 2,008.1 pounds; Dan Myers of Putnam county, 1,960.4 pounds; E. T. Storeholder of Seneca county, 1,931.1 pounds; Robert Hart of Darke county, 1,895 pounds; Richard Mitchell of Waterville, O., (1936 champion) 1,894.2 pounds; Delbert Walls of Clinton county, 2,346.6 pounds; Robert Gartner of Ashland county, 1,673.6 pounds.

Shock Corn Winner

Harold Oatney of Fairfield county who won the shock corn contest by husking 1,329.1 pounds, is 29 years old and works on a farm near Pleasantville, O. He won the 1932 contest in Fairfield county and finished sixth in the state contest that fall.

Oatney won the contest as much by thorough work as by speed. He husked 1,382 pounds of corn or 134 pounds less than Wallace Passet of Wyandot county, but the penalties for overlooked ears and wisps of husk on ears thrown in the wagon laid a heavy hand on Passet's performance, dragging him down to eighth place. Oatney's total penalties amounted only to 52.9 pounds whereas deductions totaling 318.5 pounds were taken from Passet's total.

Due to an error in tabulating results, discovered after yesterday's announcement of winners had been published in The Star, Homer Conaway of Ross county was advanced from tenth place to fourth place. The revised list, as corrected, beginning with the second place winner and continuing in the order the huskers finished follows: Lester Bennett of Henry county, 1,323.7 pounds, Guy Huffman of Fayette county, 1,287.5 pounds; Homer Conaway of Ross county, 1,277.2 pounds; Wilbur Brown of Madison county, 1,244.4 pounds, Sherman Ebert of Franklin county, 1,226 pounds, Foster Snyder of Madison county (1936 state champ), 1,215 pounds; Wallace Passet of Wyandot county, 1,197.5 pounds. Neil Ricketts of Van Wert county, 1,194.1 pounds; Claude Heath of Logan county, 1,183.1 pounds, Elmer Fennig of Mercer county, 1,127.3 pounds, Albert Wilson of Hancock county, 1,087.4 pounds; Floyd Gale of Delaware county, 1,075.5 pounds; Ralph Fields of Licking county, 1,071.5 pounds; J. H. Osborne of Putnam county, 1,067.7 pounds; Cletus Gruber of Huron county, 1,045 pounds; Ralph Augenstein of Marion county, 1,017.3 pounds; Edwin King of Columbiana county, 1,006.8 pounds. Harry Howard of Muskingum county, 968.5 pounds; R. M. Pritchard of Crawford county, 965.7 pounds.

Prize Teams Draw Wagons

Wagons for the standing corn contest were pulled by one of the finest assemblies of hitched teams shown in northcentral Ohio in recent years. The teams took part in a contest at 9 a. m. and were judged by L. P. McCann of Columbus, animal husbandman for the extension service of Ohio State university. A team owned by C. A. Wentz & Son of Upper Sandusky won first place. Second was won by Myron Beidelchies of Wharton, third by John Fox of Upper Sandusky, fourth by Lucius & Son of Upper Sandusky, fifth by Herman Dent of Carey, sixth by Mark Karr of Carey and seventh by Forest Hurd of Carey. Twenty-three teams took part in the contest.

In a brief program given while the crowd awaited announcement of the lists of husking contest winners, Earl Hanefeld, state director of education, spoke a brief greeting and short talks were given by Dean John F. Cunningham of the college of agriculture at Ohio State university and Edmund Secrest of the Ohio agricultural experiment station at Wooster.

Other Attractions

Exhibits shown by the agricultural department of Ohio State university and displays of farm machinery held the attention of hundreds during lulls in the program before the winners were announced.

Lunch stands operated by Upper Sandusky women's groups did a brisk business at the close of the husking competition at 12.20. Thousands of persons hurried to the stands and many had to wait for nearly an hour before they could be served.

Thirty policemen, sheriffs, sheriff's deputies and state highway patrolmen, assisted by 30 volunteers from Legion posts of Wyandot county, were in charge of policing the grounds and parking automobile, which filled large fields adjoining the fairgrounds and contest grounds.

Automobile house trailers found a new use at the contest. One of them was used as a public health nurse's headquarters to give emergency first aid on the grounds, and another was converted into the official workroom of the men in charge of figuring the standings of the huskers.

Most of the reports of thefts were left with guards present who had no police authority.

Marion Man Will Visit Homeland After 50 Years

Joseph Voll of 327 Lafayette street will sail Tuesday night from New York City for a two months' visit to his birthplace in Stangenroth, Bayern, Germany, and a tour of the principal cities of that country.

The visit will be Mr. Voll's first trip to his native land since leaving it nearly half a century ago. He has conducted a tailoring shop here for the last 48 years and has occupied the same building at 141 North Main street for the last 44 years.

Accompanying Mr. Voll will be August Schmidt of Columbus, also a native of Stangenroth, who came to America 14 years ago, at the invitation of Mr. Voll. This will mark Mr. Schmidt's second visit to his homeland. He is employed with the Kroger company in Columbus.

Mr. Voll and Mr. Schmidt will leave Columbus Sunday, and Tuesday night will sail on the Europa. The trip this time will be very much unlike Mr. Voll's journey to America nearly a half century ago, he recalled in discussing his trip today. He came to America on the Lahn, the voyage taking 14 days. There was a terrific storm he recalls, and on the return voyage the Lahn went down at sea. The Bremen, Mr. Voll says is expected to make the trip in five and one-half days.

He and Mr. Schmidt will land at Bremen the port from which Mr. Voll sailed for America when he left his native country. His parents were not aware of his whereabouts until he wrote them from America. He spent two years in Columbus and Chicago, later coming to Marion. He has always been engaged in the tailoring business, a trade he learned with his father, Burkhardt Voll, in Stangenroth.

At Stangenroth Mr. Voll will live in the same house in which he was born, now occupied by his brother-in-law Michael Vogneo and his family. In the same town he will visit his brother, Casper Voll, a retired farmer now 78 years of age. Mr. Voll and his brother are the only two members of their family now living. He will visit in Munich, Berlin, Leipzig, Stuttgart, Nuremberg, and other places of interest before returning home in time to spend Christmas with his children here.

Arriving Sunday to spend the day with her father before he leaves for abroad will be Sister Felicia of Springfield.

"My Record Is My Platform"

THE CITY HOSPITAL

Up to the time our administration took over the City Government, the annual loss in the City Hospital averaged $6,800.

The first year we wiped that loss out and put the hospital in the black, and it has remained in the black ever since.

I can say without the least fear of successful contradiction, that our administration placed the City Hospital on the best financial standing and the highest plane of service in its history.

Here is at least one government owned and operated institution in America that has been made wholly free from political corruption.

Miss Margaret Parker has sole charge of the hospital. When she was hired it was on one condition, namely, that she produce. That meant her hands must be free to do what she thought best. I neither recommend nor oppose anyone for any position in the hospital. I neither hire nor fire anyone in the hospital.

Specific instructions were given to certain persons working for my re-election not to go to anyone connected with the hospital to register or transfer them for the purpose of voting for me.

I regard politics in a hospital just about as friendly to health and life as the worst disease producing bacteria.

In fact, the human race has done pretty well in conquering these bacteria and surviving their ravages. But whether we can ever conquer and survive the blackest of all plagues, politics, is still to be determined.

And as long as I am your Mayor, the City Hospital will remain free from politics.

If you like the way we have improved your hospital, go to the polls November 2nd and with your ballot SAY SO.

STOCKS JUMP 1 TO 6 POINTS

Easing of Trade Restrictions by Reserve Board Brings Price Rally.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 — Stock market leaders shot up 1 to 6 or more points at the best today in the heaviest burst of buying witnessed in many weeks as Wall Street found a new lease on life in the federal reserve's sudden shift in margin fluctuations.

Purchasing orders flooded boardrooms on the overnight news that requirements for speculative purchases had been cut while those for short selling were boosted.

The ticker tape dropped several minutes behind in the first hour rush. Blocks of 1,000 to 15,000 shares changed hands, with openings in a number of issues delayed 30 minutes or so as floor members attempted to coordinate bids and offers. Dealing slowed later and around the fourth hour extreme advances had been halved or cancelled in many instances.

Brokers said short covering, combined with quick-turn trading demand, had much to do with the initial bulge. The urge to cash in profits, however, apparently served to stem the advancing tide.

Bonds did better all around, but commodities were uneven. The strength of American securities in foreign markets before the start of dealings here helped brighten the picture.

Favored on the upturn were shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Wheeling Steel, Inland Steel, Republic Crucible, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Western Union, American Telephone, Anaconda, Chesapeake & Ohio, Coca-Cola, Lima Locomotive and Radio Corp.

Business news was a bit more cheerful, with earnings statements of General Motors, Westinghouse and others helping to prop recovery sentiment.

The change in margins was expected by some brokers to release about one-third of the accounts in commission houses which have been restricted because of the previously higher margin rules.

Summing up the opinion of many in the Street, one prominent broker said.

"While the practical aspects of the reduction in margins are probably negligible, the psychological effect can not be overestimated. From a practical point of view, the increase in margins in 1934 did not stop the market from going up, and the decrease now would not stop it from going down if other factors called for a further decline. The raising of requirements for shorts might have some very real practical effect, but not necessarily the anticipated effect.

"The big point is that investors and speculators alike are now very clearly on notice that the government has a real and practical interest in the level of stock prices. Every one, of course, recognizes that, speaking in an orthodox manner, a market which is favorable to new financing is important to business expansion. Every one also knows budgets are easier to balance in a bullish market than in a bearish one. Business is easier to run and profits, speaking commercially, are easier to get when people have a feeling of well being."

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—Man has entered the era of contributions.

That's what Professor C. D. Fawcett, English geographer, called the change which one century has made in city life. In 1801 London, he points out, with 930,000 inhabitants, was the only city which approached one million.

But today there are about 60 cities of a million or more population. A dozen of these exceed five millions each. In these 60 cities dwells one-twelfth of the earth's human population. That's conurbation.

It it keeps up at the present rate, Professor Fawcett explains, in two or three generations, the majority of human beings would live in from 200 to 300 cities.

Conurbation is going on principally in western Europe, in the middle Atlantic states of the United States and in China along the lower Yangtze. Teeming India, says Professor Fawcett, has escaped the development.

Eye Check-Ups

UNDOUBTEDLY MANY of you have recently read of the tremendous growth of the "Seeing Eye Organization." As a result of the campaign waged by this organization, many blind persons throughout the world have been enabled to continue with their activities. They are enabled to get about in their communities.

To help the blind to see is a noble undertaking. We must help, but no one of us should overlook the importance of his own "seeing eyes."

It is a pity that so many take their eyes for granted. Too little do they realize that neglect of what may appear to be a trivial disorder may lead to permanent blindness.

There are 114,000 blind persons in one country alone, the United States. It is believed that more than half of these could have been saved from darkness by modern medical science if steps had been taken in time.

The eye should be guarded against infection, accident and disease. No matter how trivial the injury, it is best to take precautions against complications.

Let me warn all of my readers of the great need to care for the eyes, and, particularly, of the necessity of attending to any defect of the eyes during infancy and early childhood. Many cases of so-called "near-sightedness," "far-sightedness" and "astigmatism" can be corrected by glasses. But these glasses should be prescribed at an early age and worn as directed.

In certain diseases care must be taken to prevent complications involving the eyes, and which, if neglected, may result in permanent impairment of vision and even blindness. Kidney disorders, diabetes, syphilis, if untreated, may lead eventually to serious affects upon the sight. It must be seen how essential expert medical care really is in these cases.

Many persons suffer from symptoms which they think are due to eye strain. As a matter of fact, they may be signs of some constitutional disorder which, if neglected, will lead to poor vision.

If you are a victim of severe and recurring headaches, chronic loss of sleep, attacks of dizziness or any disturbance of vision, it is best that you consult with your doctor. Above all, avoid the use of self-prescribed patent medicines, such as eye washes, ointments, salves and other alleged remedies. Never use any eye medicine unless it is prescribed by your doctor or eye specialist.

The eyesight of every school child should be regularly tested. I am glad to say that in certain states the law requires that this be done. It would be beneficial indeed if a similar law compelled adults to have their eyes examined at periodic intervals.

Every Ad Has Been An Alibi -

Do you know that THE SMITH ADMINISTRATION has granted to The Marion Reserve Power Co. a 25 Year Franchise with a 10 year rate contract on Feb. 8th, 1937, AT PRESENT RATES, while rates are being reduced all over the country?

The deficit referred to by Mayor Smith accumulated during several City Administrations and not during the one that preceded him. Most of it was due to the relief program made necessary by THE NATIONAL DEPRESSION.

THOSE DEBTS ARE STILL OWED BY THE CITY OF MARION.

Our citizens voted two levies totaling 3 mills which amounted to $86,464.92 in addition to the regular City tax income, and the increased revenue provided by a bigger tax collection than the two years before. If it were not for these levies our City would really be BANKRUPT.

LOOK AT YOUR TAX RECEIPTS. TAXES HAVE INCREASED FROM $20.00 per $1,000.00 to $22.94 under the present administration, an increase of 14.7 per cent.

The BONDS that have been paid in the last two years ($246,524) were paid by the SINKING FUND TRUSTEES with MONEY received from the County TREASURER. No City Administration ever touches the money that is used to pay off Bonds and interest thereon.

We beg to differ with the Mayor on his statement that the Police and Firemen were not paid their 1935 salaries. THE CITY DID NOT OWE THE POLICE AND FIREMEN WHEN THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION TOOK OFFICE.

As to the Garbage Collection Department, take note that the Mayor compares 12 months in 1935 against 21 months in 1936 and 1937. Not much difference when he admits that it cost $39,453.99 to operate in '36 and '37, against $22,240.06 in 1935.

Sure the PARKS and STREETS have been renovated. But why take credit for this when the TAX LEVY of 1½ mills paid for the material and the Federal Government through THE ROOSEVELT Administration paid for the LABOR — at no cost to the city.

The Mayor has either no knowledge of the facts or has again misinterpreted them. He claims to have balanced the BUDGET, but has he? If the good citizens of Marion had not passed the Special Tax levies the present administration would show a DEFICIT of about $85,000.00.

OILING OF STREETS TO BE COMPLETED

Maintenance Program Will Protect City Roadways During Winter Months.

Work of completing the street oiling program carried on during the summer by the city service department was started today under the direction of Safety-Service Director John V. Ruth. Streets and alleys in the final program include those on which no work has been done and others which were previously given one application but still need additional attention to protect them through the winter months.

The streets and alleys on which work was started today are in all sections of the city, Director Ruth said.

Only one side of the streets will be treated at a time, leaving the other half open for traffic while the first application of oil is soaking in. After a few days the other side will be treated. A car of 10,000 gallons of oil received by the city today will be used in the work.

The oiling will complete the summer maintenance program which has included application of tar and chipped stone to 9.7 miles of street, oil treatment of 39.9 miles, construction of 2,400 linear feet of concrete in street widening projects, laying of 870 feet of brick pavement and cutting back of 78 street intersections.

Free Clinic At Hospital Turns in Fine Record

The free clinic at the Marion City hospital, for which the 11 units and the City Council of the Parent-Teacher association are sponsoring a tag day Saturday, this year completed its tenth year of caring for families where funds for medical examinations and treatment are not available. It was established in May of 1927 through the combined efforts of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, the City Union of King's Daughters and the Parent-Teacher groups, with the co-operation of Marion physicians, surgeons and dentists.

This, briefly, is the answer to the question of why scores of women active in P.-T. A. work and the City clinic will turn salesmen for the day in the interest of their share of the maintenance of the project.

Aid for Hundreds

Located in the basement of the City hospital, the clinic is the mecca for hundreds of ailing adults and sick and crippled children throughout the weeks and years. Interested in helping humanity in general, the sponsors of the clinic are particularly anxious to be helpful in restoring health to children in order that they not only may find happiness in strong bodies and minds but also be better fitted to attend school and seek a higher education if desired, be self-sustaining and an asset to the communities in which they live.

The clinic service includes five departments, medical and surgical, eye, ear, nose and throat, dental, dermatological, baby and pre-natal. Days for consultation and treatment are Monday Wednesday and Friday mornings of each week, and on these days the attending physicians, surgeons and dentists donate their services for the entire period. Assisting also at these times are members of the city and county nursing staff who also donate their services.

Cases cared for at the clinic are recommended through the nurses, visiting teacher, Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross, the Parent-Teacher association members and persons vouching for the eligibility of those seeking treatment. Mrs. Florence Coffman, secretary, is in charge of affairs at the clinic.

Idea of Work

An idea of the work carried on at the clinic is found in the report of the secretary for the year ending Sept. 1, 1937. Figures show that medical visits numbered 307, refractions 86, operations, major 2, minor one, tonsillectomies 31, anaesthetics 32, dental cases 51, dental corrections 82.

The venereal clinic was reopened Oct. 1, 1936, the report shows, and since that time 34 cases have been registered. Children's cases registered number 12, and treatments administered number 638 adult and 211 children. Wasserman tests number 124 adult and 132 children, and other tests and treatments number 38 and 64 respectively.

Total visits of the various patients numbered 1,000 for the year and new cases registered were 245. Thirty-six pairs of glasses were purchased through the clinic and paid for by the Kiwanis club.

Mrs. Walter A. Shealy is general chairman of the tag day sale and she is being assisted by the executive board and presidents of the various units.

The sale will be held in the business district of the city Saturday from 8:30 a. m. until 6 p. m. Approximately 3,000 tags are to be offered in return for contributions to help finance the clinic.

WHAT A WELDER!

That's not the last word in feminine millinery pretty Marian Florence is wearing (although if a millinery designer sees it it might become a hat). Marian has just completed a little electric welding job at the American Welding society convention in Atlantic City, and the hat is a shield against the glare of the blinding arc.

JAPAN WILLING TO HOLD PEACE TALKS

Especially Interested in Such Conversations with United States.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 28—Japan is disposed to accept friendly conversations with interested powers, including particularly the United States, looking toward eventual restoration of peace between Japan and China, a high Japanese authority said tonight.

The American delegation entrained for Brussels, en route to the nine power conference which Japan has declined to attend. This Japanese authority suggested that the Brussels conference might give a mandate of interested powers to open peace negotiations at Tokyo and Nanking.

The idea broached was that Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador to Japan, and Sir Robert L. Craigie, British ambassador, would talk with Foreign Minister Koki Hirota in Tokyo. The American and British ambassadors to Nanking then could sound out the Chinese government.

FLOOD WIPES OUT SYRIAN VILLAGE

By The Associated Press

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct. 28—A great flood rushed down from the hills northeast of Damascus today and swept through the town of Dmeir where almost all the houses were washed away.

Dozens of bodies were recovered by troops and police from Damascus. One hundred persons were missing.

The flood followed a cloudburst. A sheet of water nine feet deep rolled onto the town so quickly that the inhabitants had little time to flee to high ground.

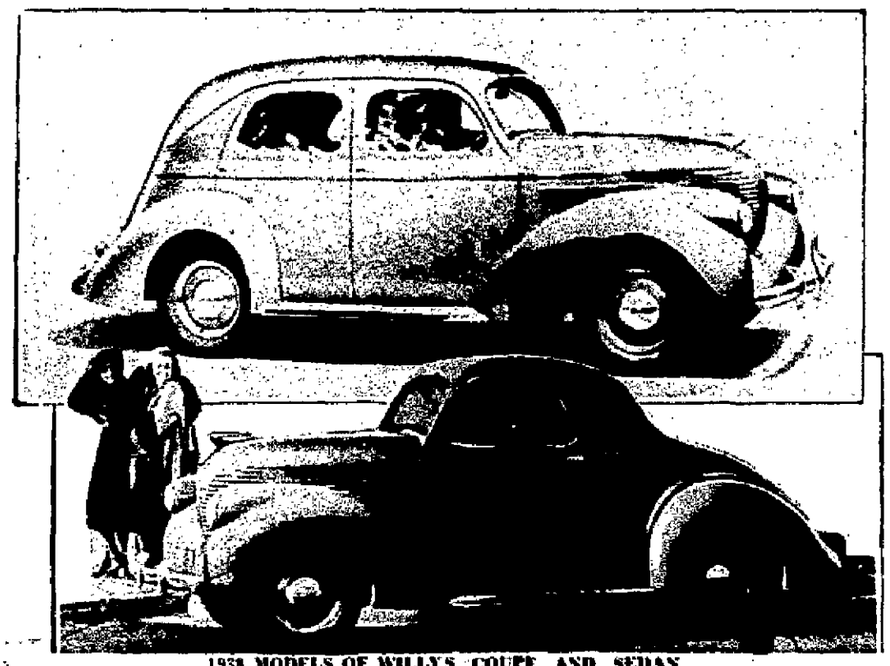
WILLYS BRINGS OUT NEW 1938 MODELS



1938 MODELS OF WILLYS COUPE AND SEDAN

Willys 1938 models, the second edition of the four-cylinder car offered by the Willys-Overland company, is being displayed in Marion today at the Donelson-Riggs Motor Sales Inc. showrooms at 274-278 North Main street. This year's edition is being shown in three types the standard, deluxe and custom built lines.

Roominess is the major feature of this year's Willys, the front seat being 50 inches wide with additional knee and head room greater than previous models. The deep-cushioned front seat is adjustable to the driver's preference. The car is lower, yet there is no driveshaft tunel and the floors are level. All-steel bodies with a solid steel top, insulated against the sound and temperature changes, are part of all models.

The Willys is offered in a coupe and four-door sedan, both of which have large luggage compartments. A one-piece hood lifts from the front making the engine easily accessible. The battery is located under the hood and in easy riding refinments the car boasts oversize, cylinder-type, hydraulic shock absorbers. The luggage space of the sedan measures 13½ cubic feet and in the coupe measures 38 cubic feet.

The L-head-type Willys engine is rubber mounted. Pistons are of lightweight semi-steel and the crankshaft is drop-forged. The cars are equipped with an automatic, high-velocity, air-controlled, down-draft carburetor, with the main jet adjustable. Engines are 48 horsepower.

Among the safety features are the headlamps of tilt-beam, nonglare type.

The beams are controlled by a foot switch, so that control of steering, with two hands is always possible.

Four of the new models, two coupes and two sedans, are on display in the Donelson-Riggs showrooms and other new cars are expected soon.

KIN OF MARION CO RESIDENTS KILLED

Marion relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Dole of Bellaire, Mich. have received an account of the automobile accident on Oct. 16 in which both were injured fatally.

Mrs. Dole was the sister of Harry DeLauder of 253 Leader street and Edward DeLauder of Caledonia.

Mr. Dole, a former Antrim county sheriff and county poor commissioner in Michigan, his wife and Mrs. Dole's nephew and niece, Ralph Flickinger, were returning to Bellaire from Central Lake. The right rear tire of their car blew out, causing the car to skid half way around, overturn and roll into a ditch. Before it went into the ditch all four occupants were hurled through the top. Mrs. Flickinger was the only one not injured. Mr. Dole died a half hour after the accident of shock and Mrs. Dole died Sunday night. Mr. Flickinger was taken to the Charlevoix, Mich. hospital, where his condition is reported to be improving.

A double funeral and burial were conducted Oct. 19 in Bellaire.

FIVE JUVENILES QUIZZED AGAIN

Information gained yesterday from further questioning of three Marion girls and two boys by a federal agent from Toledo and by city police in connection with a recent trip to Florida during which a Kentucky automobile was stolen was to be taken to federal court at Toledo today or tomorrow to determine the disposition of the juveniles, authorities here said.

The five were arrested last week and are being held, the girls at the detention home and the boys in county jail. Warren Bull, juvenile court probation officer, said it is posible the boys may be taken to Toledo to face federal charges in connection with the stolen auto.

Judge Oscar Gast said he understands the questioning revealed the five are connected with robberies in the south. A sixth youth, who also made the trip to Florida, is being sought.

STATE TO PAY RELIEF DEBT

Marion County Will Share in Distribution Promised for Next Week.

Following announcement of State Finance Director M. Ray Allison that the state will move early next week to pay 51 counties, including Marion, for overdue relief allotments, County Auditor Harry V. Mounts said today the county's relief situation will be somewhat relieved.

What bearing the payment of the debt to Marion county will have on the future of relief finances here is more or less uncertain, since much of the money to be paid is already encumbered, Mr. Mounts said.

The state has promised to pay a total of $1,830,397 in Ohio for last December and January allotments under the old state relief law.

Marion county is scheduled to receive $17,945.97 of which $12,000 was for December and the remainder for January. The county has obligated itself for much of the total by buying relief supplies in December and January on the strength of receiving the grants, Mr. Mounts said.

He said there probably will be a small balance left, but it is uncertain how much. The balance will be the only source of relief money for the county after next January unless the state legislature acts, he said. The county's relief is financed at present by surpluses in the selective sales tax bond fund which will be gone after the first of the year.

Allison said he hoped to pay all by Nov. 1 or shortly thereafter. To bolster the state operating fund he asked public utilities to be prompt in paying excise taxes due on or before Dec. 15, The Associated Press reported. He asked payment before Dec. 10 if possible.

CAREFUL reading of Herbert Hoover's latest speech must convince any reasonable American that if representative democracy had more men like this it wouldn't need to be "saved" by professional lifeguards, but could make a pretty fair stab at saving itself.

It's not necessary to agree with Mr. Hoover to take this attitude. All that's necessary is to understand that he is trying, to the best of his ability, to persuade his countrymen that it is better to work out their destiny with the familiar tools of the two party system than it would be to yield supinely to the pressure for totalitarian rule now being exerted in the United States by political authoritarians.

To keep the record straight, Mr. Hoover makes it plain that he is not gunning for a job. He specifically praises former Gov. Landon, who succeeded him as Republican presidential candidate, for taking the lead in the discussion which Mr. Hoover firmly believes is the key to the nation's political salvation. As much as any man alive today, Mr. Hoover fills the role of an elder statesman, advising and encouraging younger men who are active, or who should be active, in management of public affairs.

He has had the experience and, since March, 1933, the leisure to qualify him as a student of national problems. Mr. Hoover is an idealist, and he does not need to apologize for it, because it is his creed that the United States can save itself from the halter of authoritarianism by ideas. "We want to develop Republican ideas from the party," he says. "In the face of this crisis there is an ample area of ideas upon which to build unity."

This position will be scoffed at by leaders of the opposition and by many of their followers who thoughtlessly have let themselves be persuaded that men like Herbert Hoover must be 100 per cent wrong about everything because they are 100 per cent out of office. But here and there among them will be a skeptic doubting that the country can afford to forget that it was created and has been maintained by honest debate.

What may happen to Mr. Hoover's ideas is anybody's guess. What will happen to the United States is mercilessly plain if the opinions of sincere men who seek to rehabilitate the machinery of two party government on a basis of reason are flouted.

Calling All Citizens

REGARDLESS of party affiliations, people of Marion can view with approval the annual "Get Out the Vote" campaign of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. This live young men's organization sets a fine example of non-partisan public service by reminding citizens each year that the only way to maintain satisfactory government is for them to go to the polls and vote for the candidates they consider best suited for office.

At first thought it might seem that any such reminder is hardly necessary, for it is obvious that every person should be sufficiently interested in public affairs to vote without fail. But unfortunately that condition does not exist. Even in major elections, when not only local but national and state officials are chosen, a large percentage of the citizenry either forget to go to the polls or deliberately neglect it.

So it is that campaigns such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce is conducting now and has conducted for several years are valuable contributions to public welfare. Possibly in the course of time other organizations interested in having the best possible standard of government will fall in line and follow the Junior Chamber's lead. It is easy to see the great good which could be accomplished by a widespread non-partisan effort of that kind, the eventual result probably being only a very small percentage of absentees from the polls. When and if that is brought about, election results will unquestionably represent the wishes of virtually all the people and mark a salutary decline in the power of professional politicians.

An Old Refrain.

IT'S INTERESTING to note that trailer manufacturers have organized to protect their interests, which they say are threatened by shortsighted legislators who don't realize the trailer is here to stay. That's where they're wrong.

"The trailerite owns the place where he lives," the argument goes. "Owning homes should be encouraged. The trailer owner is a good citizen, frugal and progressive. It is silly to class him as a gypsy. The trailer owner is really a smart man; he is pioneering a new way of living."

All true. Therefore, trailerites will be lambasted with laws and sobered down by fees and taxation. "They're here to stay"—that's an old refrain. Home owners have heard it for generations. Automobile owners are sick of it. Trailerites are hearing it now. It's not until legislators know that something's here to stay that they get to work on it. Otherwise, they might frighten it away and miss the fun.

One thing about that mechanical nose developed for intoxication tests, it doesn't catch cold.

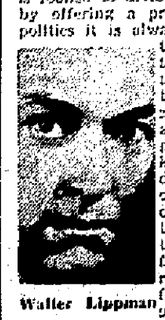
Hoover's Boston Speech Was Argument with Politicians of Party for Practical Program.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Speaking in Boston, Mr. Hoover addressed himself to a task which he described as gigantic. He argued that the Republican Party "must produce principles and program besides being against and joyriding on mistakes."

It is plain that he was arguing with the practical politicians of his party. The practical view, which might also be called the cynical view, is that the Outs must seek to mobilize all who are disgruntled with the Ins, and that it is foolish to divide the opposition by offering a program. For in politics it is always much easier to unite men by their resentments than to rally them around a common principle and a definite program. All kinds of people dislike the new deal for all kinds of reasons. But they do not all of them dislike it for the same reasons. Therefore, to ask the opposition to unite on a program is to take the risk of dividing it before it begins to fight.



Walter Lippman

Mr. Hoover insists that the risk should be taken. This is, of course, the self-respecting and public-spirited attitude. It may possibly be also the more far-sighted attitude. For the controlling fact about the Republican party is that it no longer recruits the bulk of the best brains among the younger men. They went to the new deal in 1932. They stayed with it in 1936. And, however disillusioned or skeptical they may be coming to be, they have not forgotten the reasons which turned them against the Republican party.

It is because of those reasons that Mr. Hoover's task is indeed "gigantic". The attempt of the Republican party to organize the opposition to the new deal must on the most critical issues reckon with the historic fact that the new deal is the logical development of old guard Republicanism. Before the Republicans can really espouse the liberal principles which are the alternative to the new deal, they must somehow disown and purge themselves of very essential parts of their own working doctrine.

No one need question the sincerity or the fervor of Mr. Hoover's opposition to the planned and regulated economy which the new dealers believe in. But there is no denying that a country which followed the Republicans in the post-war period was bound to find itself committed to a highly managed economy. They imposed extreme protection upon the nation, and they fostered the development of concentrated combinations of giant corporations. These two developments amount to the radical impairment, and must lead to the eventual destruction of, a free capitalistic order. The next step was either to reverse the whole tendency and undo what the Republicans had done, or to follow the tendency and do what Mr. Roosevelt has tried to do.

Until the Republicans are prepared to change radically the principles which they practiced when they were in power, they can offer no alternative to the new deal. The ultra-protectionist is in no position to make himself out to be the apostle of liberalism. The sponsors of the excessively elaborate corporate system are in no position to talk convincingly about economic liberty, freedom of competition, or individualism. The monopolist who has fixed prices privately cannot make much of a case against the politician who fixes them publicly. The men who struck at commercial freedom are in no position to say they do not like a managed currency and a managed economy.

These contradictions are the real obstacle to doing what Mr. Hoover would like to do. It would be impossible to formulate principles and a program that were in any sense an intelligible alternative to the new deal without revising fundamentally the principles and the programs which dominated Republicanism from 1896 to 1932.

That, too, is the main reason

General Revision of Entire Federal Tax System Seen Likely in 1938 by Administration.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 — A general revision of the entire federal tax structure, so as to afford a better balance and a more equitable relationship between rates, may be confidently expected to materialize for the coming calendar year 1938 on recommendation of Secretary Morgenthau and with the approval of President Roosevelt.

This development, perhaps one of the most encouraging that American business could possibly anticipate at this time, will doubtless not be credited until the ways and means committee of the house and the finance committee of the senate get together next month and begin consideration of treasury proposals. But the important fact is that the full drive of the administration will be behind the effort to achieve tax revision.

Heretofore, tax "revision" has usually meant indiscriminate increases in rates, and the public has come to look upon every change as more burdensome than its predecessor. But the time now has come for a realistic understanding that it is not a revision of rates, but a revision of tax methods which is bound to bring sustenance and suport to a business recovery.

America's tax system has been developed with typical political inconsistency as a sort of crazy quilt. Rates have been compromised between extremes in congress that never have represented any well-considered tax theory as a whole, but simply the individual efforts of certain congressmen to win political prestige by soaking this or that class in the community.

Today, the complicated tax system of America is one of the major factors in the current business recession. Considerable study has been given by Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, and some of his associates to the British system of administering taxes, and it may be that some of the methods that have worked well in Great Britain will be found among the treasury's forthcoming recommendations.

No Study Given Law

A good example of the clumsy and destructive way that tax laws have evolved may be seen in the way the undistributed profits tax was introduced. President Roosevelt proposed in 1936 to abandon the corporate income tax, the excess profits tax and the capital stock tax and to substitute the undistributed profits tax for all of them. Apprehension over possible loss of revenues and the usual hit-or-miss methods in drafting tax legislation prevailed, so that finally all these taxes were retained as well as the so-called substitute. Also, instead of doing away with the graduated income tax for corperations, the principle first injected in the 1935 law was modified somewhat to provide a lower starting point, but the top bracket was kept unchanged at 15 per cent.

In other words, there has not been in the making of our tax laws any well-defined plan, but a sort of makeshift that has suited the political conditions of the moment. So far as tax theory itself is concerned, very little popular education on it has been developed. Many business men talk frequently of wanting to see a "broadening of the base," by which they mean a lower exemption, and while there is undoubtedly much merit in reducing the exemptions somewhat, the latest studies of the Twentieth Century fund research staff show that hidden taxes are proportionately more burdensome to the persons of small incomes than any other group.

Basically, what is needed is a general recognition of the important principles that should guide the congress in making tax laws.

First and foremost is acceptance of the principle that "capacity to pay" is a desirable yardstick, but that destruction of incentive has ill effects upon the normal expansion of business activity.

Secondly, it will be conceded universally that the primary purpose of taxation should be to get the revenues necessary to balance a prudently built budget, but here again, as between two methods, both of which are likely to attain the goal, the decision might well be in favor of the tax that burdens least the exchange of goods or the price structure.

Tax for Regulation

Thirdly, the imposition of a tax purely to accomplish social reform is detrimental to the growth or expansion of business. This principle perhaps could better be stated thus: taxation to get revenue is desirable, but regulation in the guise of taxation is undesirable.

Fourthly, the revision of tax rates, some of which may actually reduce revenues but encourage business activity, should be balanced against the imposition of taxes that increase revenues without discouraging business volume.

What is little realized perhaps is that most of the states of the union have been building top-heavy tax structures and that, with 48 different taxing systems in the states, to say nothing of the municipal tax experiments, business volume finds itself hampered at every turn in an effort to plan expenses as much as a year in advance. For a long time, there has been agitation in favor of a conference between federal and state authorities to eliminate duplication and specifically to prevent competition in certain tax fields as between federal and local taxing bodies. Impetus for the holding of such a conference can come only from the President of the United States. It would be a constructive move if a start in this direction could soon be made. President Roosevelt, however, is well aware of the importance of a general tax revision, and rumor hath it, as an example of his attitude, that he already has agreed to substantial change in the undistributed surplus tax and revision, if not repeal, of the capital gains tax, both of which moves would be considered quite favorably by the business world.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Oct. 28, 1917.

Rev. H. H. Hoyt preached his farewell sermon as pastor of Fite Memorial Baptist church. He had accepted a pastorate in Akron.

"Pledge Card" week of the national administration campaign for reduction of amount of wheat, beef and pork products and sugar used by the people, began throughout the nation with special services in the churches. Practically every church in Marion county brought the movement to the attention of the congregation.

A service flag bearing 66 stars and a roll of honor containing 66 names, representing the men who had been attendants at the church or members of the congregation and who had entered the nation's service in the war, were unveiled at Epworth M. E. church.

Can Japan Be Stopped?

The Answer Is "Maybe" With Three Big Ifs, Expert Student of Situation Reports

BY FREDERICK V. FIELD

Secretary, American Council, Institute of Pacific Relations.

Written for The Associated Press

CAN Japan be persuaded, or forced, to stop her Chinese campaign short of achieving her avowed intention of completely defeating the Chinese armies? This is the question which has become prominent with the sudden turn in American foreign policy toward international action given by President Roosevelt's Chicago speech.

The answer, or rather the nearest we can come to an answer now, lies in what is likely to develop along three directions:

F. V. FIELD
Authority on Oriental Affairs

1. The ability and willingness of China to continue strong resistance over a long period of time.

2. The strength of whatever policy the United States, Great Britain and the other supporters of international action decide to adopt.

3. The internal situation in Japan.

With regard to the first factor, we have so far seen the Chinese armies offer unexpectedly strong resistance to superior offensive weapons in Shanghai, but in north China the Chinese armies have been steadily retreating with only one determined stand in the battle of Nankow pass. In the air the Japanese have shown themselves superior to China; on water, except for what China can do to block river channels, the Japanese are in complete control.

War in the North

The majority of close observers however, believe the Japanese campaign to be very far indeed from completion. Many Chinese sympathizers are not even worried by the rapid Japanese advance in the north, for they interpret the amazing lack of Chinese resistance as supiciously like a predetermined plan to extend the Japanese lines by drawing the invader far into the hinterland. Once the Japanese line is stretched along the vast length of the Yellow river these observers look for a protracted Chinese campaign of guerilla warfare designed to make Japanese occupation untenable and to force Japan to economic exhaustion and social unrest at home.

When it is recalled that General Pai Chung-hsi, a noted advocate and experienced leader in this type of fighting, is in charge of the north China fighting, and that the former Red armies, which for 10 years successfully practiced guerilla tactics against the overwhelming forces of the central government, are playing a prominent part in the northern fighting, considerable weight is given to this opinion.

It is probable, then, that the fighting will be of long duration on both fronts. On the Nanking-Shanghai sector the Chinese will continue positional warfare regardless of loss of life. The purpose will be to engage an enormous and costly invading force by resisting every inch of the way. In the north, probably, guerilla tactics will soon commence in earnest with the object of demoralizing the enemy and giving time a chance to undermine Japan's home base.

Persuasive Mehods Likely

With regard to what sort of policy is likely to be adopted by the United States and other foreign powers, the only thing that can be pointed out with safety is a trend. This trend in the direction of concerted action to "quarantine" Japan has been unmistakeable since the President's speech.

Will it lead to action that can actually stop Japan? What seems likely now is that conference of the Nine-Power treaty signatories will first attempt, by further verbal denunciations of the war, to persuade the two nations to cease fighting.

Can we expect much more? The next step would be a boycott or a partial boycott of commercial relations with Japan. In view of Britain's preoccupation in Europe and the United States' determination to avoid becoming involved in war, it is extremely doubtful if as drastic a policy as this will be adopted.

This brings us to our third question, the internal situation in Japan. Only two things can make Japan stop its aggressive action: coercion from the outside or internal exhaustion. Or, what is, more likely, a combination of both.

Japan's Internal Affairs

Mere moral pressure from the outside serves only to infuriate the Japanese to further militarism, but Japan is economically dependent to an extraordinary degree on exports to pay for the import of essential war materials.

Further, the ruling class in Japan is setting on a social barrel of dynamite, and if the workers and farmers are subjected to a long period of lowering living standards, the barrel may blow up. Therefore, the sort of partial commercial embargo which foreign nations might impose on Japan, combined with continued Chinese resistance, would in part provide the external coercion which would promote internal exhaustion and force a halt to the China campaign.

These factors, however, cannot be expected to operate quickly. If quick results were wanted, the foreign powers would have to find a way among themselves to effect a complete commerical boycott of Japan—supported by naval action sufficient to protect the Philippines, Netherlands India and the other raw material areas of the southwestern Pacific.

Will European politics and American opinion permit such a policy? If not the most that can be expected is a mild sort of international action of long duration. And, if not even this can be achieved, no influence on the course of Japanese aggression can be expected from abroad.

"Too bad you don't remember what you left out of the stew the last time that made it taste so good."

28,140 IS TRAFFIC TOLL FOR 9 MONTHS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 28—The national safety council reported today 28,140 persons died in traffic accidents during the first nine months of 1937, a nine per cent increase over the total for the same period last year.

Despite the increase, the council noted "several favorable aspects" of the traffic situation. September was the second month in which no increase over 1936 was registered. The total for the month—3,500—represented a 16 per cent drop from August.

CITIES SEEK LAWS TO RAISE AID FUNDS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28—Indications of a demand to the Ohio legislature for laws enabling cities to raise relief funds for matching state money came today from officials of large population centers. A special session probably will be called in December.

There was no objection to Gov. Martin L. Davey's insistence that local subdivisions bear part of the cost—only an uncertainty as to how the money could be raised.

FARM UNION ASSAILS CROP CONTROL BILL

board of directors, replacing Clarence Ludwig of near West Liberty and Carl Wagner of Garrettsville. Mr. Hagans declined nomination as director but accepted a call as delegate to the national convention at Oklahoma City on Nov. 15.

Harry Warner of Uniontown was elected to replace Raymond South of West Liberty on the board of arbitration and L. J. Black of Bellefontaine was re-elected to the board, which passes on questions arising between conventions.

The next convention was not selected, but will be named later by officials of the division.

Resolution Adopted

Most important of the several resolutions passed was the following:

Whereas the President and secretary of agriculture are determined to have congress pass at its special session a crop control bill more drastic than the unconstitutional AAA, whereas only 15 per cent of American farmers are willing to be regimented and the control is undemocratic and unconstitutional, we urge the farmers of America to flood Washington on Nov. 15 with telegrams and letters opposing the measure.

Other resolutions included:

1. Asking the congress to amend the farm moratorium act to extend the period of grace from foreclosure from three to five years, pending passage of the Frazier-Lemke farm refinancing bill.

2. Opposing any milk legislation which does not conform with the principles of the Union, namely that farmers obtain cost of production.

3. Adopting the national Union label as the state label.

4. Recognizing the imminent danger of war, and approving the investigation in the senate by Senator Gerald P. Nye of war and its causes, and decision to publish the report of the senate committee in the National Union Farmer.

5. Opposing the movement reported to be on foot in Washington to abolish the postal savings bank, which the convention said is the only federal bank available to farmers of the Union.

6. Asking revision of the United States code to require federal courts of appeal to permit farmers to litigate appeals without payment of costs beforehand when the farmer files an affidavit of inability to pay.

7. Asking congress to pass at once the Frazier-Lemke farm refinancing bill.

8. Expressing appreciation to Mayor Frederick C. Smith for hospitality of the city, to the police department for its courtesy, to Pleasant township local No. 33 for its efforts in caring for delegates.

9. Expressing appreciation to the Farmers' Defense Committee for defending the Frazier-Lemke moratorium act and the farm debtors' act in the federal court.

10. Criticizing federal judges and certain common pleas judges for failure to obey to the letter the Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium act and sections of the bankruptcy act. It was explained that although the moratorium act has been declared constitutional, some judges have sold farms at foreclosure.

Kennedy Speaks

A feature of the afternoon's session was an address of Edward E. Kennedy of Washington, D. C., national Union legislative counsel and former national secretary, on the duties of the Farmers' Washington Service of which he is director. The organization is sponsored by the Union and is designed to further their legislative program. Mr. Kennedy was to have spoken Tuesday night but was delayed.

The outstanding information brought by Mr. Kennedy was that the senate agricultural committee, without warning to hundreds of farm witnesses, yesterday transferred its hearing to determine what farmers want from Springfield, Ill., to Columbus, O. Farmers of several states will be heard at the session which will be held Friday and Saturday.

As explained to the delegates by Mr. Hagans, the action of the committee has the effect of shutting off the voice of many farmers who had been listed as witnesses at Springfield and making it possible for Ohio State university economists and professors and county farm agents to express views rather than farmers.

The convention immediately voted unanimously to go home, load their automobiles with farmers, each write a petition, and pour into Columbus Friday for the hearing.

Elmer McClain of Lima, member of the Farmers' Defense Committee, gave a brief address explaining the fight of the committee for the Frazier-Lemke moratorium act.

Opposes Politics

Mr. Hagans read a letter from Miss Mildred Simpson of Oklahoma, daughter of the late John A. Simpson, for 20 years leader in the national Union, in which she urged abolition of politics and petty cliques from the Union.

The convention adopted a resolution authorizing the officers to divide the state into districts from each of which a director will be elected. They also favored changing method of election of officers, making the convention a nominating body with election to be by vote of all members in locals.

The immense popularity of Mr. Hagans, known as "Dad" to the organization, was demonstrated when he was offered a fourth term as president, but declined on the grounds it was contrary to the Union constitution. His farewell address brought tears to the eyes of many of the hardbitten farmers in the audience as he said, "All I want is to go back to my farm and spend the years God intends for me in peace and quiet. If you ever need me again, you know where to find me."

He put a touch of bitter humor at the close of his address when he said "But the old farm isn't quite home any more. I can't go back and say this is mine. It is owned by me and the federal government. I have lost my equity in it."

Yesterday morning E. H. Everson of St. Charles, S. D., national president of the Union, gave a brief but vigorous address on the problems of the Union.

EVANGELIST GIVES STIRRING MESSAGE

"Preachers Are Cheapest Policemen," Audience Told at Epworth M. E. Services.

"Preachers of God are the cheapest policemen we have today," Dr. John H. McCombe of Detroit told his audience at last night's services at Epworth M. E. church. Basing his sermon on the fifth verse of the first chapter of Joshua, Dr. McCombe followed the life of the militant leader of the march on Jerico, in a stirring revival message.

A song service led by Mrs. McCombe, and a group of musical numbers by the Brown Metropolitan Jubilee Singers provided a musical setting for the evangelistic sermon. Mr. Brown of the Jubilee Singers gave a reading, "The Negro Funeral."

The challenge of the church is to look to the tomorrow, not to look back, the evangelist said. In his answer to the question of when is a good time to hold a revival in a church, the speaker said that any season of the year was an opportune time.

Last night was designated as guest night and the members were asked to invite one friend and one stranger to join them for the service.

Tonight is "family night" and parents are especially urged to be present. Dr. McCombe will speak on pertinent topics affecting the home and family life of the present day.

Friday night will be observed as men's night when the evangelist has issued a call for 199 men. Women will be seated in the gallery and also will usher and receive the collection.

Interest is growing in the morning prayer meetings being held daily in the homes in various sections of the city. The time is 10 to 10:30 o'clock each morning.

Prayer meetings Friday morning will be held at the following homes: Mrs. Fred Smith, 595 Oak street; Mrs. J. A. Mayfield, 256 West Columbia street; Mrs. C. F. Pace, 530 Cherry street; Mrs. W. W. Wilson, 480 Blaine avenue; Mrs. W. T. Owen, 252 South Vine street; Mrs. J. E. Crissinger, 139 Dix avenue; Mrs. C. J. Bever, 1285 East Center street; Mrs. C. N. Geddis, 832 East Church street; Mrs. Anson E. Pickerel, 324 Forest street.

Dr. and Mrs. McCombe are conducting a month's evangelistic service at the church.

OHIO GARDEN CLUB MEMBERS ON TOUR

Labanon came to this country is not known, she said in discussing the earlier vegetation.

Gardens of many of the beautiful homes and estates on Long Island and in other parts of the state were shown with slides. Among them were the lovely gardens of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and the old home of William Cullen Bryant. The weeping beech, heather, and other rare and unusual vegetation were included in the pictures.

Luncheon covers were laid for 130 local garden club members and guests in the ballroom. The tables were decorated with fall flowers and garden foliage and places were marked with miniature blue vases holding sprigs of ivy.

The program this afternoon included a trip to the Harding Memorial, and to the gardens of Mrs. Morgan Burns on South Vine street, Mrs. Jay E. Mabie of King avenue, Mrs. J. Malcolm Struble of Mt. Vernon avenue, and Mrs. D. J. Shelton of the Richland pike.

Following the garden visits the guests were to be entertained at tea at the home of Mrs. O. J. Rupp on Long Connecting road. Mrs. Willard Kauffman, of Jones street, Mrs. Ray E. King of Mt. Vernon avenue, and Mrs. Minnie Meeks and Mrs. Dalton of South Main street.

DAIRY SHOW FUNDS RETURNED TO STATE

COLUMBUS, Oct. 28—Of the $85,000 the state legislature appropriated to finance the National Dairy Show, approximately $15,000 which was unused will be returned to the state, it was learned when the Ohio emergency board met at the Deshler Wallick. The committee, of which Charles P. Michael, lawyer, is chairman, voted to invite the 1938 show to Columbus. The state board of agriculture has also endorsed an invitation.

Auto Show Opens Amid The Glitter of Swank Styles

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 — The 1938 national automobile show went into high today with all the glitter of a Christmas tree—and with spectators as pleased as kids with new toys.

Grand Central Palace was the local point and officials predicted greater attendance records than last year.

The machines, making a play primarily to the eye, were exhibited in almost every conceivable fashion.

Motors had glass walls so you could see what made them tick, some cars were cut in half; bodies were exhibited in "before" and "after" phases to show how they looked in rough and finished form; motors were kept running and chassis revolving so the patrons could see every nut and bolt.

But the spectators weren't interested primarily in mechanics. They crawled in cars and jiggled on seats to see how the springs worked, fiddled with newer and more gaudy gadgets on dashes, opened trunks, ran fingers over chrome and stood off and gazed in respectful awe at the flowing sweep of body contours.

Motor company executives were confident the new models were as pleasing in appearance, as efficient and as safe as their engineers could make them.

Three new types of automatic gear-shifting devices were shown among the machines which included one—the Waterman arrowbile—that either flies or travels on land. It had collapsible wings and was powered at the rear with a push propeller.

Good news came to the manufacturers from the American petroleum industries committee which predicted that every third family of the 30,000,000 in the United States would have bought a new or used automobile this year.

The show opened yesterday to run a week.

DISCIPLES WANT BETTER MINISTERS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28—An attempt to raise the standard of ministers in the Churches of Christ (Disciples) was made today by a commission at the denomination's international convention after a two-year study.

It introduced a resolution proposing the following minimum requirements for ministerial ordination:

1. Good moral character and personal fitness for the ministry.

2. A full college course or its equivalent and, if possible, graduate training in religion.

3. Experience in Christian work which shows real leadership, vision, pastoral qualities and preaching ability.

SCHOOL ZONE SIGNS TO BE ERECTED HERE

Forty-two school traffic signs received by the city service department will be erected on streets around all school buildings in the city within a short time, Safety-Service Director John V. Ruth said today.

The signs are about two feet square, painted yellow with black lettering, and warn motorists that they are approaching a school zone and to observe the state law limiting speed to 20 miles an hour.

After the signs are erected, Director Ruth said, traffic officers will be instructed to patrol the school zones at regular intervals.

By The Associated Press

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 28—Unofficial dispatches reported today that Moorish troops had broken through Spanish government lines in the Usera sector of Madrid and advanced 800 yards in Paseo De Itosales.

These advices, which were not confirmed by war communiques from either the insurgent besiegers of the former capital or the government defenders, said fighting was general around the city.

By The Associated Press

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 28—A warrant for the arrest of Gov. Robert E. Quinn in a $500,000 libel suit by Walter E. O'Hara remained in the pocket of Sheriff Thomas Barry of Kent county as Quinn insisted he could not be arrested as chief executive.

Meanwhile, on petition of state public utilities Commissioner Michael Deciantis, a "responsible representative" of O'Hara's Star-Tribune was summoned to appear before Superior Judge Charles A. Wash to show cause why the paper should not be held in contempt of court.

Emmett Reilly of Columbus, old-time baseball player and catcher for the Marion Ohio State league team in 1910, '11 and '13, today has one of the most unusual jobs in organized sport—taking some of the "hop" out of baseballs.

News dispatches from New York carried the report that Reilly had been retained by the American League as a technical advisor for this purpose. President Harridge of the league was quoted in the dispatch as saying that it would be Reilly's duty to make the balls a little less lively.

Reilly now is associated with a Columbus sporting goods store and stops in Marion frequently.

KENTON SEEKS TO ATTRACT NEW FIRM

Akron Concern May Move In If $50,000 Can Be Raised by Business Men.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 28—A civic industrial committee today began a sweeping canvass of Kenton, soliciting all business and professional men for donations in order to interest a new industry in locating here.

An Akron firm has expressed its desire to move to a smaller community where there is a lower price labor market, cheaper overhead, lower tax rates and room to expand.

The company desires a suitable plant and the cost of removing its equipment to the new site, Kenton business men said that the venture would cost about $50,000 and expressed doubt that local businesses would stand that much of a drain at this time. However a canvass will be made and if the result falls short of the amount needed some counter proposal will be made.

Members of the Kenton industrial committee in charge of interesting new ventures in this city, and in making the canvass for contributions, are John A. Ryan, chairman; Paul Root, T. O. Moore, Paul T. Moser, A. C. Johnston, James H. Allen Jr., Boyd W. Fair, E. H. McFarland, J. M. McLaughlin, B. B. McVey, W. T. Augur, George Callam and Ralph E. Yauger.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, Oct. 28—The Ohio Association of Insurance Agents was on record today approving a report of their secretary, John A. Lloyd, advocating the return of relief administration to local governments and private charitable associations.

The report said such action would "eliminate politics" and "toss the professional rellefers out of the board and get down to actual necessities from the standpoint of giving help."

LABOR PARLEY HALT MAY BE PERMANENT

Refusal of Rivals To Yield on Any Point Indicates Breach Will Remain.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 — Attitudes of "no surrender" by both factions in organized labor's civil war created a widespread belief today that the week's recess of the peace conference might last indefinitely.

An American Federation of Labor statement last night said:

"We have not received any help from the representatives of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Unless there is a change in their attitude it is doubtful if any progress can be made toward peace."

The federation's peace committee had just heard its own peace terms rejected by the C. I. O. delegates in equally strong language. Philip Murray, C. I. O. peace committee chairman, said the A. F. L. offer would mean "abject surrender" and was wholly unacceptable.

The C. I. O. made the first peace proposal Tuesday. In brief, it called for the C. I. O. to fly the A. F. L. flag but to remain virtually an independent department.

The A. F. L. would have none of that. The federation's peace committee proposed that John L. Lewis' unions dissolve the C. I. O. and march back into the A. F. L. to fight for their principles at federation conventions.

The federation charged that Murray "issued a public statement rejecting our proposal without advising the conference."

It spoke of "extravagant and unsupported" C. I. O. membership claims and defended its own peace terms as affording "a reasonable opportunity of healing the breach."

"We offered to continue an intensive campaign along both industrial and craft lines," the A. F. L. statement said.

On analysis, the federation said, the C. I. O. plan offers "no basis of settlement," and "simply means a continuation and enlargement of the existing confusion and division."

A few observers expressed an opinion that the initial proposals were made just to start off the bargaining. Others, however, said they believed both groups had made their final offers.

Those on the sidelines speculated on the possibility of President Roosevelt bringing pressure on both sides to force an agreement.

A MARION girl, Miss Barbara Fralich is one of 10 young women students at Ohio university who will make up the charter list of the newly-organized Mortar Board chapter to be installed at the university this winter. Final arrangements will be made next month when a national inspector will visit the university.

Miss Barbara Fralich, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fralich of 387 Blaine avenue, is one of four senior women taken into the Cresset, senior women's honorary fraternity, last week. Cresset membership is based on scholarship balanced with diversified campus activities. The women, together with six young women already enrolled, will make up the Mortar Board charter list.

Miss Barbara Fralich is a member of the Alpha Senior Women's Council, Kappa Xi Delta sorority, and Kappa Delta Pi, national educational honorary fraternity. She also is a member of the executive board of the sorority and is regularly and assistant photography editor of the Athens, Ohio University yearbook. Miss Fralich was graduated from Harding high school in 1934 and is now taking a course in educational law.

Mrs. and Mrs. Leonard Wake, Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson and Claudia Loman of Marion were recently luncheon guests of Mrs. Jue Carol Neilson of Beverly Hills, Calif., at the Swedish Three Crowns restaurant, according to a Los Angeles news item.

DUKE AND DUCHESS' U. S. ITINERARY SET

To Visit New York, Hollywood and Miami. Close Associate Discloses.

PARIS, Oct. 28—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are planning a double swing across the United States from New York to Hollywood and back to Miami, a close associate disclosed today.

They will travel with about 70 trunks and a retinue of six persons, he explained. The westward trip would take the former British monarch and his American-born wife along a northern route while the eastward journey would be through the south.

This member of the duke's suite emphasized that the exact itinerary of the five-week tour was still under discussion. The duke and duchess will sail Nov. 6 on the liner Bremen.

After arrival in Florida they planned to visit a Caribbean island not yet decided upon. A friend of the couple said Washington and Pittsburgh already were on the list of places likely to be visited. Windsor's associate added that some industrial areas of New England were almost certain to be included.

The retinue for the American tour will include Windsor's equerry, Dudley Richard Forwood, and bodyguard David Storier.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bedaux, American hosts of the couple when they were married at Chateau De Cande last June, may accompany them part of the way after preparing a welcome for them in New York.

The duke would take a valet, it was said, while the duchess would have two maids. There also would be a secretary to handle correspondence for both.

The luggage undoubtedly will include sport and light clothing for the warmer states in addition to the usual formal and informal apparel.

Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

Cordelia's Black-Tie Party

THROUGHOUT dinner, and ... Nina talked—said things ... couldn't remember what, ... Only the part of her ... made her tongue move, ... moving properly. The rest of ... was a solid mass of longing—and ... jealousy, too.

She ... so, for the feel of ... his arms ... his lips, that ... agony; and when he ... they close to him she felt ... hating her mother.

... handclasp — his arm ... could bring no com... only more hurt.

At the end of the meal, when Honey, all unwittingly, suggested that they leave the two men together for a while, Nina demurred....

"Oh, we don't want to be formal with grooms!"

But the real reason was that she didn't want to be alone with Honey; didn't want to have to talk gaily and intimately about her own travesty of a marriage, with Honey—who was so wildly happy, in hers.

Nina thought: "This is sort of the—end, I guess." She could never feel quite the same with her mother now.

That night, when David had fallen asleep beside her, she lay for a long time, thinking.... thinking.

And the things that would come up in her mind, the question that kept insisting itself, was this: did Richard love her still?

What had been in those dark eyes, when he looked at her across the table? Had he meant to cover her hand with his when he reached to refill her cocktail glass?

In spite of all her arguing with herself, nothing could change the one thing that she wanted most of all, right now; that he should love her.

Nothing could be gained by it; it was wicked, and didn't "make sense" as she told herself over and over....but there it was. He must love her..or she simply couldn't live.

In the days that followed, Nina was able to overcome her aversion to being alone with Honey, somewhat; but her mad feeling about Richard went right on. She made no excuses for herself, and she fought it and she doubled up on her efforts to make David happy...but it went right on.

"Please love me, Richard. Please."

Meeting Nina's Friends

Cordelia gave a very festive dinner-party for Nina and David, during which David survived the evident curiosity of his wife's friends, most creditably.

Nina was both pleased and amused that one or two of the girls remembered him from Cordelia's party, in the autumn.

He spoke with engaging frankness of his carer as an automobile salesman, and of his turning Nina into a "home-body." From their delighted laughter, Nina suspected that some of them thought he was fooling; but she didn't care. And she loved him for not trying to seem to be anything that he—wasn't.

The difficulty of dress had been surmounted by Cordelia's saying: "Black ties" to all the men, because she suspected David didn't own a tail coat. She said it to David, too, when they were discussing the party...and, instead of saying: "All right," he said: "Swell—I don't own anything but a tuxedo..." And on account of that very small fact, Cordelia had congratulated Nina again, later, for choosing such a grand person for a husband.

"He's real, Nina. He's a—person."

And Nina agreed. "He's a very cute—somebody, and I adore him."

She did.

The next event on their social calendar was very different.

Two of David's friends—Gracie Nolan, and Jack Knight—had arranged a little dinner in their honor.

Knight was another salesman who worked in the same showroom as David; and Gracie had worked there in the past, as a private secretary.

Jack thought that Gracie was his girl.

Gracie thought otherwise... but they got on pretty well, in spite of the difference of opinion.

Off Come Two Bracelets

Nina gave some thought to the matter of what dress she should wear to the party, and decided on a Sunday evening sort of costume, of burgundy velvet...It had a medium high neckline, and a suspicion of a sleeve. Without its perky velvet hat and nose veil, it was almost a dinner dress.

"Come in at seven...there will be six of us," Gracie had said over the telephone. Nina was frankly puzzled.

Beyond the statement that the men were not dressing, David had been no earthly good to her; so—without being the least bit snobbish—Nina decided it would be in better taste not to run any risk of seeming to be putting on the dog.

Before they started, David took her by the shoulders, and grinned at her.

"Now listen, baby....I'm not making any excuses, because I wouldn't have these people for friends if I didn't like'm...but remember, the Social Register never heard of these gals and boys. They're the people I met when I came to New York...just a fresh kid from Syracuse...the only people I'd get a chance to meet. See what I'm getting at, sweetheart?" He grinned again. "They're a little...different, that's all. Simpler than your friends."

Nina said of course she understood and was dying to meet them; and she went into the bedroom promptly, and took off two bracelets and one ring.

She left on her slender gold wedding-ring, and the single strand of exquisitely matched pearls her father had given her. That was all right. They would probably think they were false, anyway.

They took the bus to Gracie's apartment—116th St. and Riverside Drive.

Nina had been presented to the Court of St. James; she had passed before the critically scrutinizing gaze of the patronesses of the Junior Assemblies; she had, in short, been put through many tests that required social poise and tact ...but tonight, as she entered the grille-work lift with David, she was really afraid.

Nina readjusts her ideas about Gracie before the party is over, tomorrow.

BUCYRUS, Oct. 28—A general denial that he has any intentions of slapping any so-called "blue laws" on Bucyrus if he is elected mayor was made Wednesday night by George T. Dustman, Republican candidate for mayor, in a talk at Lincoln school during a north side party rally.

"It has been reported," Dustman said, "that I will, if elected mayor, close the city on Sundays. I do not know what is meant by "close the city,' but I have no intention of interfering with people's right to entertainment and the pursuit of their personal happiness. I am not a reformer."
